About The Echo

California Lutheran University's weekly student news outlet, The Echo, has two primary purposes: to publish news, features and editorials as a vehicle of information and opinion by students for the university community and to provide the best educational experience possible in preparation for employment in professional journalism.

Based at California Lutheran University's main campus in Thousand Oaks, California, we distribute 700 issues to almost 20 locations across campus every Tuesday.

CLU serves more than 4,000 students including almost 3,000 undergraduate students from nearly every state in the U.S. and 45 countries.

The Echo is award-winning:

- 2018 California College Media Award First Place, News Series
- 2018 California College Media Award First Place, Arts & Entertainment Writing
- 2018 California College Media Award Third Place, Non-Breaking News Story
- 2018 California College Media Award Third Place, Editorial
- 2018 California College Media Award Third Place, Feature Photo
- 2018 California College Media Award Honorable Mention, Multimedia
